HUSKERS FOCUSED ON TAKING THE NEXT STEP

The Nebraska Women's tennis program looks to build on the success it found in the 2018 season. Following an impressive 18-7 mark and a No. 45 national ranking at the conclusion of the season, the Huskers strive for a bid to the 2019 NCAA Tournament.

"We're just going to have to work harder this season," Nebraska Women's Tennis Head Coach Scott Jacobson said. "We have already seen tremendous progress because of the work we've put in."

In 2013 the Huskers produced its best season in school history with a 24-6 record, a Big Ten Conference Championship and a trip to the NCAA Sweet 16. Head Coach Scott Jacobson was awarded Big Ten Coach of the year while senior Mary Weatherholt made it to the NCAA singles championship match.

Following a rebuilding year in 2014, the Huskers saw significant progress in 2015 with the opening of the Sid and Hazel Dillon Tennis Center, which helped the team to a 12-12 record. The 2016 campaign proved to be an even stronger year for the Big Red, with the Husker women putting up a 17-8 overall record and solidifying Nebraska's return to success.

The 2017 season was another triumphant one for Nebraska. A 19-8 record in the regular season led the Huskers to an appearance in the Big Ten tournament with a first-round victory against Minnesota. Nebraska would fall just short of making the NCAA tournament.

Last year, the Huskers were knocking on the door of the NCAA Tournament yet again, finishing with an 18-7 record, including a 7-4 mark in Big Ten play. The Big Red just missed out on the Big Dance again despite an impressive win against No. 19 Ohio State and making the Big Ten Tournament for the second consecutive year.

The 2019 squad returns seven letterwinners from the 2018 season, including three seniors. With three seniors and four juniors on the roster, the Huskers will rely heavily on players who haven't seen a lot of court time in the main rotation.

"This year is going to have a lot to do with the kids that haven't been in the lineup in the past," Coach Jacobson said.

With only one newcomer to the 2018-19 squad, freshman Jessica Aragon will look to make an immediate impact in the Nebraska lineup.

"Jessica is a worker and has really good doubles skills," Jacobson said. "She is going to contribute right off the bat."

Aragon will help the Huskers after the departure of 2018 seniors Katerina Matysova and Brianna Lashway. Matysova put together 130 wins in her four years at Nebraska. Lashway, a transfer from Missouri, displayed her ability with a dominating 17-4 doubles record in her only season as a Husker.

Every Husker on the 2019 roster will serve the role of captain.

"The expectation is that everyone leads by example," Jacobson said. "I wanted to take the pressure off of individuals and put it on everyone to be accountable."

Seniors Elizabeth Gould and Vasanti Shinde will compete in their fourth year as Huskers. They will be joined by senior and second-year Husker, Marina Cozac, who came to Lincoln after spending two seasons at DePaul University.

A native of Atlanta, Ga., Gould had a strong showing in fall Invitational play and will serve a major role on the team this spring. Partnered with Cozac at the Minnesota Invite this fall, the duo came out with a 3-3 record and hopes to build on that success entering spring competition.

After transferring from DePaul following her sophomore season, Cozac has made her mark in Lincoln during the past two years. With a 7-2 fall singles record this year, Cozac looks to solidify a spot in the lineup. She recorded victories in both singles and doubles during the 2018 spring season.

"Marina had a phenomenal fall and we've seen a big jump in her game," Jacobson said.

Closing out the group of seniors is Shinde, a native of Pune, India. In 2018, Shinde went 6-1 in Big Ten singles play and 20-2 in doubles matches competing with Matysova. Entering the spring in as good of condition as she's ever been, Shinde will compete at the top of the lineup.

The junior class makes up the largest group of Huskers with Hayley Haakenstad, Claire Reifeis, Jeannie Lozowski and Emma Worley all returning for their third season.

As a 2018 captain, Haakenstad went 5-4 playing at the No. 5 and No. 6 singles spots. Pairing up with Reifeis, the sophomore team went 12-7 and 4-4 in Big Ten play at No. 2 doubles. The duo recorded impressive wins against No. 19 Ohio State and 2018 Big Ten Champion Michigan (#34).

Reifeis looks to improve upon the strong numbers she put up in both her freshman and sophomore years.

"Every year she gets better and better," Jacobson said.

Last season, the Indianapolis, Ind., native recorded 17 singles wins, with five of those victories coming in conference play. This fall, Reifeis took home the Gopher Invitational singles championship, failing to drop a set in three wins.

One of the team's top performers of 2018, Reifeis will be a force for the Huskers this season as the team competes for a bid to the Big Ten and NCAA tournaments.

Lozowski did not compete this fall due to a wrist injury. However, the Port Saint Lucie, Fla., native will be ready to compete for Nebraska in the spring. She has a 30-20 career record and has won 11 of the 19 doubles matches she has played in during her career at NU.

"She's shown increased flexibility and hasn't had any signs of pain in her wrist since recovering from surgery," Jacobson said. "Jeannie has shown how productive she can be when she's at full strength, so we're hoping to get her back to that point because she can really help this team."

After competing in two matches last season, Worley has seen more court time entering the 2019 season. In fall play, the junior from Northville, Mich., recorded a singles win against Oklahoma, which Jacobson referred to as "the best match of her entire career." Now an upperclassman, Worley will be depended upon to take a step forward to help out the Husker lineup.

Seniors Shinde, Gould and Cozac will look to provide consistent and steady leadership for the team. Shinde enters the spring with 33 career singles wins and 41 career doubles victories. Last year, she went 10-9 in the spring playing out of the top two spots in the lineup.

Gould, who has seen a lot of success on the doubles court (6-1 last year) will get plenty of opportunities to show what she can do in her final year at Nebraska.

"Elizabeth is someone who can really help us with her doubles ability," Jacobson said. "She's really good around the net and did a great job competing for us this fall. We're excited to see what she can do this year."

Jacobson believes outstanding team chemistry will play a major role in NU's success this season.

"This is a cohesive unit that loves and cares about each other and loves competing as a team."

A HISTORY OF SUCCESS

Entering his 28th season as Nebraska women's tennis head coach, Scott Jacobson has had his Huskers consistently ranked among the top 75 teams nationally for nearly 20 years, while making regular NCAA Tournament appearances the past decade.

Jacobson owns 407 victories at the helm of the Huskers and has averaged more than 15 wins per season. While laying the foundation for the Nebraska program brick by brick since his first season in 1991-92, his program has been defined by consistent success.

2013 CONFERENCE TITLE SEASON

He led Nebraska to the Big Ten Conference regular-season title in 2013. From 2010 to 2013, Jacobson's Huskers produced the most successful stretch in school history, winning 20 or more matches for four straight seasons to advance to four consecutive NCAA tournaments. The Huskers finished No. 16 in the final ITA rankings in both 2012 and 2013, including the program's first NCAA Sweet 16 appearance in 2013.

Since that Sweet 16 appearance, Coach Jacobson has been building the women's tennis program back to a point of national prominence, aided by the addition of the world-class Sid and Hazel Dillon Tennis Center. Over the past four seasons, the Big Red has more than doubled its win total from eight wins in 2014 to 18 victories in 2018.

BUILDING A WINNER

Nebraska's 2018 performance was impressive. Under Jacobson, the 2018 squad amassed 132 individual singles and doubles wins in the spring alone. The team earned a national ranking at No. 21 in mid-March and earned a spot in the Big Ten Tournament for the second year in a row, where NU fell to No. 3 seed Illinois in the second round.

The top-40 national ranking and six seed in the Big Ten Tournament displayed Nebraska's continuing efforts to reload the program after losing several seniors from the 2013 season, which produced the greatest team and individual season in school history.

Not only did Nebraska finish with a No. 16 ranking and advance to the program's first Sweet 16 in 2013, the Huskers experienced tremendous individual success as well.

JACOBSON GUIDES WEATHERHOLT

Mary Weatherholt, the greatest player in program history, capped her Husker career by finishing as the runner-up at the 2013 NCAA Singles Championship. Weatherholt was a first-team All-American in both singles and doubles play in 2013, as she teamed with fellow All-American Patricia Veresova to advance to the final eight in the doubles competition.

Off the court, Weatherholt claimed one of the NCAA's top overall honors as a winner of an NCAA Top Ten Award in 2014. She was the Big Ten Women's Tennis Athlete of the Year in both 2012 and 2013, and she was Nebraska's Female Student-Athlete of the Year in 2012-13. Weatherholt added a Big Ten Sportsmanship Award, while claiming the ITA Cissie Leary Sportsmanship Award, which is presented to the nation's top women's tennis student-athlete.

BREAKING RECORDS

The Huskers' record-breaking 2013 season followed on the heels of a 2012 campaign that featured a 24-5 overall record and a 9-2 Big Ten mark in Nebraska's first year in the conference.

Weatherholt, who returned to the court after suffering a knee injury as a sophomore in 2011, again led the Huskers along with Veresova, Weinstein, Janine Weinreich and senior Madeleine Geibert.

A three-time all-conference pick both athletically and academically, Geibert set the NU record with 181 combined wins before Weatherholt broke the record the following season. Jacobson earned 2012 Big Ten Co-Coach-of-the-Year honors after leading the Big Red to the second round of the NCAA Tournament.

NEBRASKA'S BIG 12 FAREWELL

In Nebraska's final season in the Big 12 Conference in 2011, Jacobson led the Huskers to a 20-win campaign despite dealing with the loss of Weatherholt to a knee injury early in the fall. NU finished fourth in a loaded Big 12, producing a 7-4 conference mark while qualifying for their third straight NCAA Tournament.

Geibert and Veresova both earned All-Big 12 honors. Jacobson capped his association with the Big 12 Conference by leading seven Huskers to Big 12 individual titles and 26 first-team All-Big 12 awards.

COACH OF THE YEAR

In 2010, Nebraska posted the first 20-win campaign in school history, finishing with a 22-6 overall record that included a 9-2 Big 12 mark and a third-place conference finish. Jacobson was named Big 12 Coach of the Year for the second time, while leading the Huskers to their first-ever NCAA Tournament victory with a first-round win over Illinois.

Jacobson, who led Nebraska to its first NCAA Tournament with an 18-4 record and a 9-2 Big 12 mark in 2005, was also the 2005 Big 12 Coach of the Year. The 2006 team added a 17-10 overall record while featuring Big 12 Freshman-of-the-Year Kim Hartmann on its way to a second straight NCAA Tournament bid.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

While Nebraska has seen its most success on the court under Jacobson, the veteran head coach also emphasizes excellence in the classroom and in the community.

During his career, Jacobson's Huskers have earned numerous academic all-conference accolades. Jacobson also guided the athletic career of two-time CoSIDA Academic All-American Imke Reimers.

The women's tennis team also earned the Herman Award four straight years from 2011 to 2014. The award is presented to the NU team with the top overall grade-point average.

JACOBSON'S COACHING PHILOSOPHY

"By helping our student-athletes develop the values of dedication, cooperation, compassion and the ability to handle adversity with courage, we help them grow as both tennis players and as people. Through a belief in one another and a positive approach to competition, we can build meaningful relationships off the tennis court and continue a winning tradition on it."

Honor the past. Live the present. Create the future.

Nine simple words that carry impressive significance and undeniable responsibility. Words that Nebraska's new athletic director uses to lead his programs and set the tone for building champions in competition and in life.

William H. (Bill) Moos was named Nebraska's Athletic Director on Oct. 15, 2017, and fully assumed those responsibilities on Oct. 23.

Moos, who became the 15th athletic director in the history of the storied Cornhusker program, brings nearly 25 years of experience as an athletic director at three Division I schools (Washington State, Oregon, Montana) with him to Nebraska. More importantly, he brings an impressive track record of success in building outstanding programs, developing long-term relationships, and for doing what is best for his schools, its fans and most importantly, its student-athletes.

"When you name the top three, four, five athletic programs in the great positions as an athletic director, Nebraska is in that same breath," Moos said at his introductory press conference at Memorial Stadium. "I want you to know that my motto has always been, in the 25 years I have been a Division I athletic director and it will be here too is very simple - honor the past, live the present, create the future."

In his first six months at Nebraska, Moos made three coaching hires. He drew universal praise for hiring Scott Frost, the 2017 consensus national coach of the year, as Nebraska's head football coach in December. Following the spring semester, Moos also hired Mark Hankins to coach the men's golf team and Sean Maymi to lead the men's tennis program.

Moos also oversaw several team successes in his first six months in Lincoln. He watched the volleyball team win its fifth national title and second in three seasons in December. In 2018, both the men's and women's gymnastics teams finished in the top six at the NCAA Championships, while bowling finished third and rifle finished eighth. Nebraska also continued its excellence in the classroom, producing four CoSIDA Academic All-Americans, including three first-team selections. The awards increased Nebraska's nation-leading total to 333 all-time CoSIDA Academic All-Americans across all sports.

Moos came to Lincoln after spending seven-plus years at Washington State (2010-17). He previously served 12 highly successful seasons as the athletic director at Oregon (1995-2007).

During his time at his alma mater, Moos wasted little time in making his impact felt in Cougar Athletics, spearheading a department-wide rebranding effort with Nike while securing a 10-year, $35 million marketing rights agreement with IMG College.

In addition, the 2004 WSU Alumni Achievement Award winner gained Regents approval for a $130 million addition and remodel of Martin Stadium, featuring a remodeled press box with luxury seating, including suites, loge boxes and club room.

Also included in the project was a state-of-the-art video board and an 80,000-square-foot football operations building that served as the stadium's showpiece and opened in May 2014.

As the dean of Pac-12 athletic directors, Moos was at the forefront of the conference's procurement of a 12-year, $3 billion television contract with FOX and ESPN, a landmark agreement in college athletics. Under Moos' direction, the Cougar Athletic Fund's Annual Giving program saw an 81 percent increase in gifts while CAF donor members rose from nearly 4,000 to more than 7,500.

Additional facility enhancements under Moos included a center-hung video board in Beasley Coliseum that was installed prior to the 2011-12 season, giving Cougar basketball one of the premier fan experiences in the conference. An indoor golf hitting facility was also completed in early 2013, and Lower Soccer Field underwent a major renovation making the venue TV-ready while also providing one of the best playing surfaces on the West Coast, along with the addition of lights and a new scoreboard.

Other enhancements were made to the Moobery track facility, Bailey-Brayton Field, the basketball practice gym, Gibb Pool and the Simmelink Indoor tennis courts. In Moos' seven years at WSU, Cougar student-athletes and coaches accounted for 805 academic all-conference selections, 130 all-conference accolades, 45 All-America honors and three Pac-12 Coach-of-the-Year honors.

Moos served as Oregon's director of athletics from July of 1995 to 2007. While at Oregon he oversaw a 17-sport athletic department that grew to national prominence during his tenure.Oregon's annual athletic department budget grew from $18.5 million in his first year to more than $40 million by 2007, becoming 100 percent self-sufficient during that time. Under his direction the Duck Athletic Fund donor base increased from 4,930 to 12,290, resulting in an annual gifts increase from $4.1 million to $15.3 million.

Moos initiated more than $160 million in facility improvements while at Oregon. Included in that was the $90 million Autzen Stadium renovation in 2002, which added 12,000 new seats, 32 new suites, a new Club at Autzen and a new press box to the stadium. In his 12 years, the Ducks ranked first in Pac-10 football attendance 11 times, reaching 100 percent capacity in each of those seasons.

During Moos' tenure, Oregon athletics captured 13 Pac-10 championships across six different sports. He increased opportunities for women by adding two intercollegiate programs, soccer and lacrosse, and negotiated an all-inclusive shoe and apparel contract with Nike, one of only 14 in the country at the time. From an academic standpoint during Moos' tenure, Oregon student-athletes collected 722 academic all-conference selections, 34 Academic All-America selections, nine NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship recipients and one NCAA Top Ten Award.

During his first stint as a collegiate athletic director at Montana (1990-95), Moos created an academic support program and hired its first athletic academic coordinator, developed a facility enhancement plan that created more than $4 million in improvements, and lifted the school's fund-raising efforts to show a 300 percent increase in private and corporate gifts.

Academically, Montana student-athletes were equally successful as the athletic department achieved a graduation rate 20 percent higher than the general university enrollment. Under Moos' watch Montana garnered 269 academic all-conference selections, five Academic All-Americans and two NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship recipients.

Moos began his athletic career as an athletic administrator in 1982 as assistant athletic director at Washington State. He also served as the school's associate athletic director (1988-90).

At Washington State, he was director of development for more than five years and associate director for nearly two years, supervising all external operations. Prior to that, he managed and owned private businesses in Washington and Oregon for eight years. He was a student assistant football coach at Washington State for the 1973 season, then spent part of 1974 in Washington, D.C., serving as a government intern.

Raised on a wheat and cattle ranch in eastern Washington, Moos attended high school in Olympia when his father served in the governor's cabinet. Moos earned his bachelor's degree in history from WSU and was a three-year letterman in football before concluding his collegiate career by representing Washington State in the 1972 East-West Shrine All-Star Game in San Francisco.

He served as co-captain on the Cougars' 1972 squad and garnered first-team All-Pac-8 Conference honors. Moos and his wife Kendra have three daughters: Christa, Brittany and Kaiti; and two sons, Bo and Benjamin.

HANK M. BOUNDS, PH.D

University of Nebraska President | Fifth Year | Southern Mississippi (1991)

On Jan. 12, 2015, the Board of Regents appointed lifelong educator Hank M. Bounds, Ph.D., as the seventh president of the University of Nebraska. Bounds began his tenure as president on April 13, 2015, bringing with him a demonstrated record of expanding opportunities for students, improving higher education outcomes and efficiencies, and building successful partnerships with policymakers, donors and business leaders.

He has continued working to improve educational outcomes and build partnerships since his arrival in Nebraska. Bounds has connected with leaders within the university, in the private sector, in government and in the military to increase collaboration and innovation. In late 2015, he worked with the University of Nebraska Foundation to launch a two-year, $200 million fundraising initiative to increase access and create success for current and future students. In 2015, Bounds also launched a university-wide Food for Health Initiative - the first of several programs designed to increase collaborations across NU and incentivize new research that addresses critical issues important to Nebraskans and result in greater research funding opportunities. Supporting quality teaching is an important focus for Bounds, and in the spring of 2016, he made a $3.5 million strategic investment to hire additional faculty and expand NU's online course offerings. Bounds also announced late in 2015 that NU's enrollment had grown to its highest level in 22 years - marking progress toward the Board of Regents' goals to expand educational access to Nebraskans and attract more talent to the state to meet workforce needs.

Bounds grew up in Mississippi. His service in the Army National Guard helped him pay for college, and he earned bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Southern Mississippi and a doctorate from the University of Mississippi.

Bounds has devoted his 25-year career to helping change students' lives in the same way education opened doors in his own life. He began as a high school teacher, then rose to principal, superintendent and state superintendent before becoming Mississippi's commissioner of higher education in 2009. In that role, he oversaw a complex system of eight public universities.

Today, under his leadership, the University of Nebraska enrolls nearly 52,000 students, employes over 13,000 faculty and staff, and operates with an annual budget of $2.5 billion - including $235 million in research expenditures.

He has identified four cornerstones that will separate NU from the rest of higher education and define a new era in university history: (1) The University of Nebraska will be the best university in the nation to be a student. (2) The University of Nebraska will transform lives through research and innovation. (3) The University of Nebraska will work hand in hand with our partners to achieve our goals. (4) The University of Nebraska will win with people.

Bounds holds a faculty appointment in the College of Education and Human Sciences at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln and courtesy faculty appointments in the Colleges of Education at the University of Nebraska at Omaha and the University of Nebraska at Kearney. He serves on the board of directors for several organizations, including the National Association of System Heads (NASH), the Robert B. Daugherty Water for Food Institute, the Nebraska Innovation Campus Development Corporation, the Nebraska Advanced Manufacturing Coalition and the Consultation Committee for U.S. Strategic Command (USSTRATCOM). He is also on the Board of Governors for the Knights of AKSARBEN.

He and his wife, Susie, are the parents of a son, Will, and a daughter, Caroline. They reside in Lincoln.

Hayley Haakenstad, a junior from Chanhassen, Minn., is expected to make a big jump in her third year as a Husker. She won nine singles matches last year, including five in the spring season. She'll partner with Claire Reifeis in doubles play. The third-year duo went 12-7 together in 2018.

The Nebraska women's tennis team continued to climb the ladder in the Big Ten standings with a successful 2017-18 season. The Huskers finished with an 18-7 overall record.

Nebraska also earned a trip to the 2018 Big Ten Tournament, where the Huskers claimed the No. 6 seed. Nebraska faced Illinois in the second round following a first-round bye. The Huskers fell to the NCAA Tournament qualifying Illini in their first meeting of the season.

The 2017-18 Huskers continued to thrive in their third season at the Sid and Hazel Dillon Tennis Center. The Nebraska tennis program's spectacular on-campus facility helped the Huskers to an outstanding 14-2 record on their home courts.

A truly world-class competitive and training facility, the Dillon Tennis Center includes six indoor and 12 outdoor courts with championship lighting conditions and Olympic-caliber surfaces. The courts also provide premier seating for 1,400 spectators and outstanding views for many more to roam and take in all the action across the courts.

The 2017-18 squad had a quick start to the season. After falling to nationally ranked Vanderbilt (No. 3) and a Virginia team that qualified for the NCAA Tournament, Nebraska recorded 12 straight wins, with 10 of those coming at the Dillon Tennis Center. The Cornhuskers dominated opponents during their winning streak, outscoring the opposition in match wins, 59-8.

Two of those losses came at the hands of No. 35 Kansas State, but the Huskers knocked off their former Big 12 rivals, 4-2 on Feb. 23 to earn the win. That same week, the Cornhuskers found themselves in the national rankings at the No. 42 spot.

NU added convincing 4-0 wins against Iowa State, UMKC and Illinois State that improved their record to 11-2 entering Big Ten competition. The Big Red's outstanding performance to open the season catapulted Nebraska to the No. 29 position in the ITA team rankings as the month of March began.

The following week, the Huskers traveled to Columbus to challenge 19th-ranked Ohio State. A hard-fought dual with close wins over ranked opponents came down to the final match. Sophomore Claire Reifeis, playing at the No. 2 singles spot, faced Big Ten Freshman of the Year, No. 61 Shiori Fukuda. Reifeis came out of the first set on top after a 6-3 win. Fukuda tied the match up after a 6-7 (2-7) tiebreaker triumph in the second set. Reifeis was the winner of the third set with a 6-2 victory, giving the Big Red its first win over a top-20 team since 2013.

That hot start to Big Ten play landed the Cornhuskers at the No. 21 spot in the ITA rankings, its highest ranking since 2013.

With a healthy roster, Nebraska was fully prepared to take on the bulk of its Big Ten schedule. Nebraska suffered back-to-back loses against Michigan State and Michigan at home (2-4, 3-4). Vasanti Shinde and Katerina Matysova suffered their first loss of the season as a doubles pair against the Spartans. The team of Paula Del Cueto Castillo and Brianna Lashway were able to record a win for NU with a 6-3 victory at the No. 1 position over Michigan State.

Del Cueto Castillo and Lashway found great success as a doubles team in 2018. The junior from Sevilla, Spain and the senior who transferred from Missouri recorded a 16-4 mark during the spring season, which included wins against Michigan, Purdue and Iowa. The team put together an impressive 7-2 record in Big Ten competition.

Del Cueto Castillo and Lashway weren't the only duo to find success on the doubles court. Matysova and Shinde managed a record of 20-2 in taking over the third doubles position for the Huskers. The pair went undefeated in regular-season Big Ten play, with their only conference loss coming in a tight match (6-4) at the hands of Illinois in the Big Ten Tournament.

Matysova, a senior from Erding, Germany, made her final season as a Husker tennis player one to remember. The captain ended her career with a 73-39 record on the singles court and a 57-42 overall mark in the doubles category. Her partner, Vasanti Shinde, made impressive marks for NU as well. The Pune, India native didn't just shine on the doubles court, but she also posted a 12-5 singles record. Shinde added a crucial 7-6 (7-5), 6-4 win against No. 103 Olivia Sneed that gave Nebraska the win over Ohio State on March 7.

With a dominating 7-0 victory over Penn State on March 25, the Huskers improved their Big Ten record to 2-2 heading into a string of four matches on the road.

Nebraska took on Purdue (March 31) and Indiana (April 1) in back-to-back matches. Impressive wins in both singles and doubles from Matysova and Shinde were not enough to defeat the Boilermakers, as NU fell 4-3. Next, Nebraska traveled 116 miles south to Bloomington, Ind., recording an overpowering 6-1 win over the Hoosiers. Captain Hayley Haakenstad put together an impressive day. The sophomore was dominant playing singles and doubles for Nebraska. With Claire Reifeis by her side, the sophomore duo came out on the winning side of a tiebreaker match at the No. 2 doubles position, 7-6 (8-6). The second year Husker from Chanhassen, Minn., added a singles victory to her impressive day, coming away with a 6-3, 6-4 win against Indiana's Michelle McKamey.

Leaving Indiana, Nebraska was .500 in the Big Ten entering matches against Rutgers and Maryland.

Wins from the doubles teams of Matysova/Shinde and Del Cueto Castillo/Lashway and singles victories from Shinde, Lashway, Del Cueto Castillo and Reifeis resulted in a 5-2 win against the Scarlet Knights. Unfortunately, that impressive win over Rutgers was followed by a tough 4-2 loss to Maryland. The Cornhuskers would return to Lincoln 4-4 in Big Ten competition and 15-6 overall.

Back at the Dillon Tennis Center, Nebraska prepared to close out regular-season play. Competing in three matches in eight days against Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota gave NU the chance to finish strong heading into the Big Ten Tournament.

Nebraska shut out Iowa on April 14 and did the same to Wisconsin on April 20. With a 6-4 record, the Big Red played host to Minnesota on a day celebrating Husker seniors Brianna Lashway and Katerina Matysova. Although the seniors both suffered close losses in their respective singles matches, they were each able to record wins in doubles play. A 6-2, 6-2 singles win by Claire Reifeis sealed the deal and gave Nebraska a third-straight win heading into the Big Ten Tournament.

The 2018 Big Ten Tournament was hosted by the Golden Gophers at the Baseline Tennis Center in Minneapolis, Minn. As the No. 6 seed in the tournament, Nebraska faced 22-6 Illinois. Unfortunately, the Huskers fell to the No. 3 seed, 4-0.

The season was an overall success for NU on and off the court. With a team cumulative GPA of 3.543, Scott Jacobson's squad earned the Herman Trophy for womens sports at NU, an honor awarded to the team with the highest cumulative GPA.

Junior Paula Del Cueto Castillo and sophomore M'Balia Bangoura were winners of the Arthur Ashe Jr. Sport Scholar awards along with 36 other Husker student-athletes. Vasanti Shinde took home a Big Ten Sportsmanship award.

Claire Reifeis earned impressive marks with her singles record for the second consecutive year, going 25-9 (5-3 Big Ten). Katerina Matysova showed her senior leadership on the court with a dominating doubles record of 21-3 (7-1 Big Ten), all but one of those coming with Shinde. Matysova managed an equally impressive singles mark of 18-6.

BIG TEN CONFERENCE

James E. Delany

Known as one of intercollegiate sports' most successful undertakings, the Big Ten is home to a lineage of legendary names and an ongoing tradition of developing strong leaders. Even in its infancy, the conference established itself as the preeminent collection of institutions in the nation, where the pursuit of academic excellence prevailed as the definitive goal.

The history of the Big Ten traces back 122 years to the Palmer House hotel in Chicago, where on Jan. 11, 1895, then-Purdue president James H. Smart and leaders from the universities of Chicago, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, Northwestern and Wisconsin set out to organize and develop principles for the regulation of intercollegiate athletics.

At that meeting, a blueprint for the administration of college athletics under the direction of appointed faculty representatives was outlined. The presidents' first known action "restricted eligibility for athletics to bonafide, full-time students who were not delinquent in their studies." That important legislation, along with other legislation that would follow in the coming years, served as the primary building block for intercollegiate athletics.

On Feb. 8, 1896, one faculty member from each of those seven universities met at the same Palmer House and officially established the mechanics of the conference, which was officially incorporated as the "Intercollegiate Conference Athletic Association" in 1905.

Indiana and Iowa became the eighth and ninth members in 1899. In 1908, Michigan briefly withdrew its membership, and in 1912 Ohio State joined the conference, bringing its membership total back to nine. Upon Michigan's return in 1917, the conference was first referred to as the "Big Ten" by media members, and that name was eventually incorporated in 1987.

As the 1900s opened, faculty representatives established rules for intercollegiate athletics that were novel for the time. As early as 1904, the faculty approved legislation that required eligible athletes to meet entrance requirements and to have completed a full year's work, along with having one year of residence.

In 1901, the first Big Ten Championship event was staged when the outdoor track and field championships were held at the University of Chicago. The debut event marked what is now a staple of conference competition. Today, the Big Ten sponsors 28 official sports, 14 for men and 14 for women, including the addition of men's ice hockey and men's and women's lacrosse the last three years. Big Ten schools compete in a total of 42 sports, furthering the conference's commitment to broad-based programming and providing more participation opportunities than any conference in the country.

One of the conference's proudest traditions began in 1902 when Michigan took on Stanford in the Rose Bowl, the nation's first bowl game. Big Ten teams only appeared in Pasadena twice before the conference signed an exclusive contract with the Tournament of Roses in 1946, making it the first bowl game with permanent conference affiliations. But Michigan's appearance in 1902 cultivated a relationship that has endured for more than a century.

Coupling the academic goals set forth by the conference leaders and their steadfast commitment to athletics, the conference instituted the Big Ten Medal of Honor in 1915. It is awarded annually by each conference institution to a student of the graduating class who has attained the greatest proficiency in scholarship and athletics. It is the most prestigious honor a student competing in Big Ten athletics can receive.

In 1922, Major John L. Griffith became the conference's first "Commissioner of Athletics." Griffith was the first of five men to assume the role of commissioner in the conference's history, followed by Kenneth L. "Tug" Wilson in 1945, Bill Reed in 1961, Wayne Duke in 1971 and current commissioner James E. Delany in 1989.

After nearly 30 years with 10 members, the conference consolidated to nine schools when Chicago formally withdrew its membership in 1946. Michigan State was added to the Big Ten three years later, bringing the number of affiliated conference schools to 10 once again.

In 1955, the Big Ten formulated a revenue-sharing model designed to pool all football television rights of its members and share those proceeds equally. The conference and its members continue to utilize a revenue-sharing model, dividing media rights, bowl payouts and other profits among all conference institutions.

While academics have always played an integral role in the conference, presidents of the Big Ten member institutions formalized the primacy of academics with the establishment of the Big Ten Academic Alliance (formerly the Committee on Institutional Cooperation) in 1958. The Big Ten Academic Alliance is an academic consortium of all Big Ten universities. In 2014, the schools currently constituting the Big Ten Academic Alliance produced over $10 billion in funded research, $5 billion more than any other conference.

In one of Duke's first actions as commissioner, he oversaw the adoption of the Big Ten Advisory Commission in 1972, designed to study conference programs and make suggestions that would further Big Ten objectives. The Advisory Commission enlists former students that competed in Big Ten athletics to serve as liaisons to the NCAA's Diversity and Inclusion Department, the Big Ten Student-Athlete Advisory Commission and other organizations.

In 1981, the conference presidents and chancellors endorsed a proposal that enabled universities to affiliate their women's intercollegiate programs with the conference, and the first conference championships for women were staged that fall. The Big Ten was the first conference to voluntarily adopt male and female participation goals after launching its Gender Equity Action Plan in 1992.

In December of 1989, the conference agreed in principle to invite Penn State for membership. On June 4, 1990, the Council of Presidents officially voted to integrate Penn State into the conference, giving the Big Ten 11 members.

On June 11, 2010, the Big Ten Council of Presidents/Chancellors (COP/C) approved a formal membership application by Nebraska, which officially joined the Big Ten Conference on July 1, 2011.

The conference expanded to 14 programs when Maryland and Rutgers officially became Big Ten members on July 1, 2014, giving the conference almost 9,500 students participating in intercollegiate athletics and more than 11,000 participation opportunities on 350 teams.

On June 3, 2013, the Big Ten announced that Johns Hopkins had been accepted as the conference's first sport affiliate member. Johns Hopkins' addition in men's lacrosse gave the Big Ten six institutions sponsoring the sport, allowing the debut of men's lacrosse as an official conference sport. On June 17, 2015, the conference announced that Johns Hopkins was accepted as a sport affiliate member for women's lacrosse beginning in 2016-17. On March 23, 2016, the conference announced that Notre Dame will join the Big Ten for men's ice hockey beginning in 2017-18.

Since opening in the fall of 2013, the Big Ten Conference Center in Rosemont, Ill., has played host to more than 300 meetings annually for member institutions, Big Ten Academic Alliance-related committees and coaching groups. The headquarters also feature an interactive digital museum - the Big Ten Experience - which opened to the public on June 7, 2014. For more information on the Big Ten Experience, visit bigten.org.

In June 2014, the Big Ten opened a second office in New York City, featuring both office and meeting space in Midtown Manhattan. Three Big Ten staff members are based in the New York City office to provide expanded coverage and service. The conference manages 28 championships and tournaments, offers legislative and compliance services, oversees the production and distribution of nearly 1,400 events annually, provides staff services to coaching and administrative personnel and services media and fans interest for information on the Big Ten Conference.

More than 120 years after its inception, the Big Ten remains a national leader in intercollegiate athletics on and off the field. Big Ten programs have combined to win more than 450 team and 1,800 individual national championships, consistently taking home individual honors for athletic and academic accomplishments and fulfilling the Big Ten's mission of academic achievement and athletic success.

THE UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA

The University of Nebraska was chartered by the Nebraska Legislature in 1869 as the state's public university and land-grant institution. Founded in Lincoln, the University of Nebraska was expanded in 1968 into a state educational system now comprising four campuses under the guidance of a Board of Regents and a central administration. Nebraska, which joined the Big Ten Conference in 2011, is a member of the Big Ten Academic Alliance, a consortium of Big Ten universities and the University of Chicago, which has generated unique opportunities for students and faculty by sharing expertise, leveraging resources and collaborating on programs.

BIG TEN ACADEMIC ALLIANCE

As a member of the Big Ten, the University of Nebraska-Lincoln (UNL) is a member of the Big Ten Academic Alliance (BTAA), formerly the Committee on Institutional Cooperation, which is the academic consortium of the universities in the Big Ten Conference. The consortium was renamed on June 29, 2016. The BTAA includes all 14 Big Ten Institutions and the University of Chicago. The Big Ten Academic Alliances and the institutions together have annual research expenditures topping $10.2 billion — more than the Ivy League and the University of California System combined — and they educate a total of nearly 600,000 students with approximately 50,000 full-time faculty members.
